The Bride Run 5K

Look! Here you can see thousands of brides running on the streets. This is a campaign held by Marry Me wedding corporation, purposing on letting brides chasing their ideal marriage. By the final line stands their fiances who are waiting for them. The winner will get two flight tickets to Maldives to spend the honeymoon. It's indeed very challenging to outdo so many rivals in such a tough marathon because all participants ought to dress in wedding gowns. But, you might wonder why women should be challenged and accept the task instead of men should. It is the point that the corporation want to lay emphasis on. When women are in a relationship with men, it's men that always do labor and please their lovers. In this case, we decide to make a chance for women to show their affection. If you are caught, please read the details below. First, sign up on the website by May 10th, 2014. The total amount is up to 5200. When the quota is full, you cannot sign up. Second, the participants list will be announced on the website, on May 10th, 2014. Third, please check in on the website or at the National Taipei Gym, which is also the campaign site. Last but not least, this campaign is held on May 20th, 2014. Please come with your lovers, and both of you should dress in suits or wedding gowns. Welcome to the gorgeous event and enjoy yourselves!
