

Planning for leisure time or not

Nowadays most people spend their time working. They seldom have their free time. That is, once they have free time, they cherish a lot. Some people prefer to plan activities. However, others have no plans when they are free. There are different benefits between planning free-time activities or not.

First, the benefit of planning for leisure time is everything is well-organized. For instance, suppose you have a date with friends at 1 pm. If you plan it in advance, you will be aware of the time and reduce the possibility for being late. Also, you know what you are going to do at different time so that you won't feel bored.

On the other hand, for those who would like to make no plans for free time, there are still some benefits, such as you don't have to follow the timetable. In other words, you are not limited by the time. You can do what you want to do with an ease way.

In my opinion, I prefer to plan activities for my free time. My mom always teaches me that having a concept of time management and the ability of organization is quite important in our life, even it is just free time. I remember that when I was young, I was a bad time manager. Every time my friends asked me to hang out, I always being late. They started to hate me, because they were fed up with my bad habit. From then on, I realized the importance of being on time, including free time activities.

All in all, although planning nothing for free time is not bad, I still think have a plan for leisure time is better. Life should be filled with plans for me. Therefore, I will have the motivation to do anything.
