

Save Our Mother Earth

The town was devoured by water. The mountain was collapsed by an earthquake.

There were at least one thousand people losing their sweet home by a typhoon. All of this happened in our surroundings as long as we turn on the television. What caused our environment to sob? What can we do to help our Mother Earth?

Initially, our environment changed after we human kind invited a lot of devices to make our life much more convenient. As a result, we didn't pay attention to the sirens our environment tried to tell us; instead, we just forget ourselves in our happy and wonderful heaven!

Hopefully, there are more and more people aware of the difference and changes around us. Besides, they know how important our environment is and how precious our earth is! They have no hesitancy in doing whatever they can to protect our environment! And there are some protections I want to share.

First, we should reduce every kind of resources! For example, even though our homeland has plentiful water during rain season, residents in Taiwan just can get one third of the world average usage of water. It sounds incredible because most of the rain goes into the ocean for the sake of our geography. As a consequence, whenever we use water, we should turn it off tightly after using it! And we can restore rain to pour our plants to quench their thirst. Most of all, we can reuse water for different kinds of conditions!

Second, we should recycle everything from environment! By doing so, we can make our environment much more clean and we can earn some money! For example, when I was an elementary student, my mom advised me to recycle some bottles and took them to convenient stores for money! Although the money is not much, I learn some wonderful experience from my "part-time job". I know how to categorize bottles, glass, and cartons! I understand it is a bad habit that you throw your garbage on the streets! And it is really a big pleasure buying sweets by your won money.

Third, we should reuse all resources around us! For instance, we can restore the water which we use to wash hands to mop the floor, to water plants, and to flush the toilets. I strongly suggest we should do that because I tried this method before, and it not only saved my money to pay for the bills but also helped the environment!

Finally, even though our environment is not as beautiful as it was before, I believe that as long as we make up our mind and it is never too late to make our environment beautiful again. Just take action from now on! And our Mother Earth will smile again, so do our environment!
